b. State Budget Update

- i. Passing an early budget is still the goal. House Republicans are looking at an education funding increase similar to that provided in the 2020-21 budget. The worry is that too many lawmakers will see federal COVID aid as a reason not to boost education funding, ignoring the fact that those funds cannot be used for expenses such as pensions and regular (and growing) district costs.

c. PSERS Miscalculation

- i. PSERS employee contribution rates were incorrectly determined in December 2020. As a result, the contribution rate of approximately 100,000 school employees will go up either

.50% or .75% depending on their PSERS membership class. This will not impact employer contributions.
